

OIKOS MARINE & SOUTH SIDE DEVELOPMENT

What are the Proposals?

We have called the proposals the 'Oikos Marine & South Side Development', or 'OMSSD' for short. In summary, the project consists of the installation of new import and export infrastructure, including marine loading arms and pipelines on the existing operational jetties, and the construction of new storage tanks across the southern part of the port estate.

This area of the estate used to be occupied by storage tanks but, because of their age and condition, these were removed and the site cleared. Other associated works, such as a new workshop, additional road tanker loading facilities and additional on-site parking also form part of the OMSSD.

Below is a draft illustrative masterplan of the proposed project.
